OUR APPROACH

Sell & Parker have a zero tolerance for any form of slavery like practices. We recognise that without a robust and thorough approach to tackling modern slavery, there is a risk that human trafficking may occur within various areas of our business including procurement, our supply chain and employment on our partners sites. Sell & Parker does not tolerate modern slavery and expects organisations we do business with to hold the same values.

OUR POLICIES AND PROCEDURES

We operate a number of internal policies to ensure that we are conducting business in an ethical and transparent manner. These include;

Corporate Social Responsibility Policy, which outlines how we will work in the best interests not only of our staff and stakeholders, but of the communities we work within, of society as a whole and of the environment.

Whistleblowing policy so that all employees know that they can raise concerns about how colleagues are being treated, or practices within our business or supply chain, without fear of reprisals.

Code of Conduct applies to all Sell & Parkers group employee's in pursuing the highest ethical standards, efficient business operations and safety in the interest of the business, customers and communities within which we operate.

Equal Opportunity Policy which is to ensure equal opportunities for all workers, job applicants, client and customers, irrespective of characteristics protected under legislation: ethnicity, colour, race, nationality, or ethnic origin, marriage or civil partnerships, gender or gender reassignment, pregnancy and maternity age, religion or belief, disability, and sexual orientation. The policy also sets out our stance on valuing a diverse workforce and customer base.

DUE DILIGENCE PROCEDURES

Sell & Parker have also begun conducting due diligence on all suppliers allowing them to become a preferred supplier. This due diligence includes an online search to ensure that particular organisation has never been convicted of offences relating to modern slavery. In addition, that they have appropriate policies in place to tackle modern slavery and that pay their employees any prevailing minimum wage applicable within their country of operations and that they regularly monitor and review the working conditions of their employees.

ADDRESSING THE RISK OF MODERN SLAVERY PRACTICES

We are incorporating our approach to address the various risks of modern slavery practices in our Group Compliance framework and assurance processes and into our terms and conditions of business. This will ensure that our organisation has robust and effective processes that are firmly embedded in how we do business.

MITIGATION OF POTENTIAL RISKS IN OUR OPERATIONS AND SUPPLY CHAINS

FUTURE COMMITMENTS

Over the next year, our key focus areas will be

Reviewing and updating our suite of risk-related policies and governance control measures;

Updating our terms and conditions and issuing a supplier code of conduct where our suppliers are required to confirm that they provide safe working conditions where necessary, treat workers with dignity and respect, and act ethically and within the law in their use of labour.

We will begin stakeholder engagement on this issue, including delivering appropriate awareness training sessions on modern slavery principles to relevant Sell & Parker staff, and our key suppliers as appropriate;

Incorporating requirements into existing assurance processes; and Preparing our first reporting cycle under the Act and if appropriate under the NSW Modern Slavery Act, 2018.
